D1: EP 1 116 485

Item V

1) Novelty

The subject-matter of claims 1-4 is not new in the sense of Article 33(2) PCT in view of the prior art.

D1 already describes the use of an aqueous solution of sucrose and citric acid as granulation liquid (see example 1).

2) Inventive step

The subject-matter of claims 5-28 seems to be new and to involve an inventive step in the sense of Article 33(3) PCT in view of the prior art.

The problem to be solved was the stickiness during tableting of granules being made with an aqueous solution of citric acid as granulation liquid.

The solution provided is the addition of a water-soluble sugar like lactitol to the granulation liquid.

This problem did not occur in D1 since the granulate was used directly as such without any additional tableting step.

3) Industrial applicability

The subject-matter of claims 1-28 is industrially applicable in the sense of Article 33(4) PCT.
